Midland, MI – On, November 9, 2021, Dow, Inc., based in Midland, MI, recognized Ludington based trucking company, Quick-Way, Inc. with three prestigious awards during its virtual awards ceremony. Quick-Way received the North America Gold Road Carrier Safety/Security Award, the S4tar Award for sustainability and the Logistics Service Provider of the Year for Small Volume for their fiscal year 2020-2021.

Dow used the same criteria for all carriers to make their award determinations. The Gold award means that there were no serious, moderate or minor carrier caused transportation incidents. Quick-Way had zero for all three categories.

The S4TAR award is presented to logistics providers and value chain partners who deliver excellent results and enable their advancement in the four categories of safety, services, sustainability and social responsibility. As a Responsible Care member company, this award is a meaningful achievement towards the company's goals of a more environmentally friendly operation. As a small carrier, being recognized in the technology-driven service metrics such as real-time tracking through partner provider FourKites is remarkable.
